Welcome to our NGS AtlasSearch

The AtlasSearch provides simple, one-stop searching for materials in the National Geographic Society Collection.

The National Geographic Society Atlas Collections are now available for request. Over 1500 atlases in the NGS collection are stored in the Shared Collection Facility of the Washington Research Library Consortium (WRLC). WRLC stores nearly 4 million items for the learning institutions of the Washington, DC area.
